The Situation

Imagine we have developed the technology to live on the moon and travel freely through our solar system. We have become so advanced that recently we started to live on all 8 planets. Surely, we live in sealed pods on the surface or in orbit around some of the gassy Jovian planets, but we have expanded greatly.

Your Task

NASA heard that you were an amateur astronomer with a creative side and you are an excellent writer as well, so they employed you to be a part of their newspaper team. This newspaper is dedicated to keeping Earth up to date on what is happening on the other planets.
